MUSEUM WELLINGTON

QT QUIRK

The hotel's rich history begins with an infamous tale of so-crazy-it-might-just-work innovation, 1993 saw the then 3000-tonne, four storey building take a 120-metre journey, from where Te Papa Tongarewa, now resides.

We opened our doors as QT Museum Wellington in January 2017, marking us QT Hotel & Resorts first international property. The property, formerly the Museum Art Hotel, showcases New Zealand's largest privately owned art collection. The art is owned by Chris Parkin, the hotel's previous owner, well-known supporter of the arts and QT Museum Wellington's art ambassador.
